

Join the
NEIGHBOURHOOD BAT WATCH
(www.batwatch.ca)

And put Ontario's bats on the map!

We are looking for bat colonies!

In the summer, colonies of mothers and their pups live together in trees, stumps, cabins, houses and garages. Upload the location of colonies to www.batwatch.ca.

Bats are endangered

Populations of hibernating bats are crashing due to White Nose Syndrome, which kills about 90% of bats in infected caves. Without more information on where to find bats, little can be done to save them.

Neighbourhood Bat Watch

This new initiative links citizen scientists (like you!) with researchers to create a network for monitoring and developing strategies to protect these important animals.

Visit batwatch.ca or email batwatch@outlook.com for more information on bats, this project, and how you can become a citizen scientist!
